

Others Talk About Slums — They Act

By MARIAN WYNNE
Guide Reporter

First of a Series

A bright blue, newly-built CBS home stands out prominently in an area swarming with rotted wooden shacks, creaky furniture and the stale smell of dry dust.

Dogs and cats sleep on saggy porches where inside

10 people share two rooms.

Nearby are empty lots, overgrown with tall weeds where once sat rickety homes, long since condemned and torn down.

This is the slum section of South Miami's colored town.

But it is being cleared. The City of South Miami is working on a long-range program to modernize this vile village.

The South Miami Department of Public Service is doing a lion's size job eradicating homes and business buildings not fit to even walk in.

R. C. Gammage, director of public service, heads a team of two men O. J. Bach, building inspector, and L. S. Mixon, plumbing inspector.

These men survey blocks of buildings and condemn those uninhabitable.

SEND LETTERS

"We send letters to the owners, informing them of our action," said Gammage.

"They have 30 days to appeal to the Appeal Board of Metro. Then we place a condemned sign on the property. You should see how fast those tenants move out!

"Sometimes, an old condemned shack belongs to a very old person, living on a pittance. We can't chase

Bay-Glades Fears It

N. Kendall Drive Another Bird Rd.?

Members of the Bay-Glades Civic Association fear that North Kendall Drive will turn into another Bird Road unless they can obtain their goal of zoning protection.

The property across from the Vineland Elementary School is the subject of their zoning problem. In the last eight years 28 hearings have been held before the zoning board regarding this land which stretches from SW 118th St. to 120th Streets., and from SW 84th to 87th Avenues.

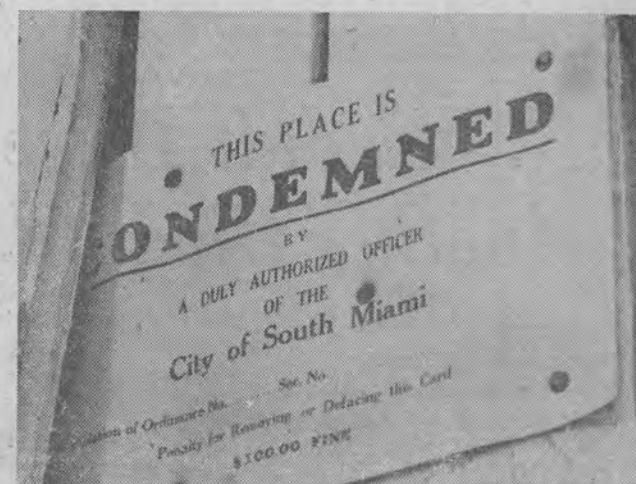

Harry C. Bauer, 9790 SW 119th St., president of the Association, said that the land had originally been zoned into one-acre estates, but had recently been rezoned into 1/2-acre estates by the County Commission.

Bauer said that the Commission went against the advice of its own planning board when it rezoned the area by a vote of six to five.

The real estate corporation involved pleaded hardship to win the disputed case. A corporation lawyer said that due to the school across the street the owners were unable to sell the one-acre estates.

them out with no place to go," Gammage adds sympathetically. "If there's a mortgage on the property or other red tape, we can't touch it, either."

Gammage, an earnest white-haired man took over his present job on Oct. 13, 1961. Previous work in urban renewal had been haphazard.

Gammage began an all-out do-or-die effort to survey buildings in South Miami in February, 1962. Land ranged roughly north of Sunset Drive to 62nd Terrace,

S. Miami Fourth A 'Family' Affair

Girls will race in a three-legged event, firemen and policemen will challenge the South Miami Jaycees in softball, while mothers fry fish and bake cakes.

All this will take place at the Fourth of July Family Sports Day celebration, from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. at the South Miami Field, 6740 SW 62nd St.

The program featuring softball and basketball, relay races, a fish fry dinner and fireworks display, is sponsored by the City of South Miami, South Miami Junior Athletic League and the South Miami Chamber of Commerce.

Any boy or girl can enter an event even though he may not have participated in the baseball league. Ages for the following groups include "A"—14-16; "B"—

Playground Meeting Set

The Dade County School Board of Public Instruction will meet for the fourth time on the controversial Palmetto Elementary and Junior High School playground July 17 at 1 p.m. in the Lindsey Hopkins Building.

Mrs. Leah Eisenman, 724 SW 125th St., one of the leaders of opposition to moving the playground, said Friday that cards and letters to the School Board are being solicited from those who will not be able to make the meeting.

THIS OLD GLORY is really old. Mrs. Willard Jenks Bailey, who is 89, 4028 SW 11th St., stands beside two American flags with 13 stars for the original 13 colonies. Their age is not known, but the white stripes have long turned to a yellow. The two flags were given years ago to Mrs. Bailey's husband, now deceased, by his great uncle, a broker-banker in Boston. The Coral Gables chapter of the DAR is trying to find a home for the flags.

Metro Moves to Take Philbrick Off Road

Metro moved last week to put funeral director W. L. Philbrick out of the ambulance business.

The County asked Circuit Judge Thomas Lee to grant an injunction against Gables resident and city commissioner.

Philbrick has three ambulances in operation and plans to add three more under a Florida State Railroad and Utilities Commission permit.

Metro had a piece of legislation passed at the last session granting to Dade County the sole power to regulate ambulance service within the county.

Philbrick has challenged this act as unconstitutional.

He cites a previous Supreme Court decision on taxicabs against the County for his refusal to abide by the law.

The County has some law of its own that it is relying on to take Philbrick off the road.

At issue is whether Metro has power to regulate or the Utilities Commission.

that apartment houses will be built, thus reducing the value of their property and adding to the congestion of the Vineland School district.

A petition, signed by 371 Bay-Glades homeowners, for the reconsideration of the County Commission's decision was filed on the morning of June 24 and was turned down by letter within 24 hours.

"It would be nice to get such fast action on other pressing matters," said Jack Nelson, 945 SW 117th Ter., spokesman for a group of residents in the Kendall area.

The association indicated they will continue to kick up a fuss and to fight to protect their land in every legal way. And to warn other Dade residents.

No Bouquets From ZAB

A Southwest man's attempt to legalize an orchid business conducted in a residential zone failed before the Metro Zoning Appeals Board.

The ZAB turned down Joseph R. Redlinger, 9236 SW 57th Ave., who had been granted an injunction by the Circuit Court pending the outcome of his appeals.

Redlinger may now appeal his case to the Metro Commission, which had already ordered him to end his activity on the property.

"As a moth gnaws, so doth envy consume a man . . ."
St. Chrysostom

Envy in small amounts is pardonable — in fact, to be expected. However, when the green-eyed monster of envy is allowed to assume all-consuming proportions, when calm and sensible perspectives are lost, then we have created a difficult personal hardship of character. A reasonable capacity for envy can often be an effective good to improvement. It can, within sensible bounds, spark a little extra effort in the pursuit of self-improvement and attainment of desired creature comforts.

CG Metro Court Gets Six Months

The Metro Court in Coral Gables has been given a six-month reprieve by the Metro Courts Committee.

Continuance of the court after a recent threat by Senior Metro Judge J. Carrington Gramling Jr. to close it down and move its operation to the Central Court follows a meeting between the committee of the Metro Commission and Coral Gables City officials.

Gramling's action followed a statement that tickets written by Gables police had dropped to a point where the operation was not justified.

Gables City officials have contended that Metro police assigned to patrol the Gables after 10 motorcycle officers were turned over to Metro have not been giving adequate service.

According to the Planning Division of the Public Safety Department, Gables police issued 23 per cent of tickets and Metro police 76.9 per cent in 1962.

Thirty-five percent of the defendants were from the Gables, according to Richard P. Brinker, clerk of the Metropolitan Court.

A sharp dropoff in ticket writing by Gables police followed an opinion by City Attorney Ted Semple that they should not make any arrests without a warrant in any accident not witnessed by an officer.

This resulted from an adverse court decision against a municipality and police officer in which both were sued for damages.

"The committee was advised that by action of the Coral Gables City Commission, in the future, citations for traffic violations will issue where the officer sees physical evidence of a traffic violation, even though he did not witness the accident," said Harold B. Spaet, chairman of the Courts Committee.

"This procedure is the procedure followed in all other municipalities and in the unincorporated area and will, I believe, materially increase the number of citations, and therefore, court appearances," said Spaet.

The committee recommended also that cases arising in the Coral Gables area be tried in the Gables Metro Court.

At the end of the six-month period, the committee will review the activity of the court.

Another bone of contention between Metro and the Gables over policing has been the refusal of the Gables to use the County's "Little Red Book" of delinquent traffic offenders.

The book has been used following arrests to determine if the offender is also wanted on other pending traffic cases in which the defendant has failed to show up in court and dodged County process servers.

The City's action followed an arrest and detention of one person at the Gables police station for several hours after Metro authorities failed to show up to pick up the defendant.

South Miami OKs Budget Unanimously

The City of South Miami has unanimously passed its $973,840 budget for 1963-64, an increase of $201,056 over last year, according to City Manager Richard Barton.

"We're one of the first cities in Florida to receive benefit from the new eight-cents tax on cigarettes sold within our city limits," Barton said.

Recreation spending will be $38,000, $1,000 more than last year. Top funds will go to public safety, $273,586; and public works, $259,080.

The added revenue from state-enacted cigaret tax will help South Miami expand its services in such fields as fire fighting and library facilities, among other things, Barton pointed out.

Hearing Set On Housing Standards

A public hearing on Metro's ordinance setting up standards for minimum housing in Dade County has been scheduled for 2 p.m. July 16 before the Metro Commission.

The ordinance, already passed unanimously on first reading, but requiring a second reading before adoption, would control housing in cities and unincorporated area.

Municipalities, however, would be allowed to set up higher minimum standards.

Passage of the ordinance is necessary for Metro to qualify under certain Federal urban renewal participation funds.

Several Dade Municipalities, including Coral Gables, have minimum housing codes similar to the one contemplated by Metro.

Some opposition to the Metro ordinance was manifested when first proposed after it was claimed that it permitted unwarranted search or inspection of property.

Overheard in the Southwest: "Now why didn't I stock up on smokes before the price went up July 1?"

"YOU CRAZY, or something?" He kicked the tires and listened to the engine. Then he started shaking his head. He was a friend, but a distant one at this point. He didn't believe I was really going to drive my 1955 station wagon to Wisconsin.

"WHY NOT?" I asked. "And please stop kicking the tires." He irritated me a little, but I'm determined to drive this car to Wisconsin. I don't know how many miles it has on it. I don't care if there is a loud noise in the rear end every time you take your foot off the gas.

SURE IT USES a little oil, but don't most cars? And two spare tires should be enough. If those Steinbeck characters in "The Grapes of Wrath" can make it from Oklahoma to California in a car much older than mine, then I should be able to make it too.

TUESDAY IS L - Day (leave day) and come what may, I'm going to be on the road. People laughed at Lindbergh, too. And I'm beginning to feel a little like him. I tell my friends I'm going to drive the station wagon to Wisconsin and they laugh. "How long is your vacation, six months?" one asked.

"HOW MUCH WORK have you had done on the car?" another asked. "I had the radio fixed," I replied half jokingly. He replied that I could at least listen to music while I was waiting for the tow truck to arrive.

New Restaurant Being Planned

THE FELLOWS at work are already making book on my chances of driving the car to Wisconsin—and back. It's a strange feeling to find such a situation. My mechanic assures me the car is in top shape — and then he discovers an oil leak. "It's just the oil filter leaking a little," he smiles.

THE BIG QUESTION — whether to take the station wagon or buy a new car — was settled long ago. I love everything about the new cars — except the price. So the wagon got the nod. Besides, there's no challenge in driving to Wisconsin in a new car.

ANYBODY CAN DO that. If and when I get to Wisconsin, the car, with the Florida license tag, spare tires and dried mud, could become a conversation piece. And you meet such interesting people through conversation pieces.

TWO MORE MEANS of getting the children off the streets . . . Open now at SW 48th St. and 102nd Ave., is one of Dade's several pools. It's not a big pool, not nearly as large as it should be to serve such a populous section. It'll get a heavy workout for sure between now and Labor Day but I fear some younguns may be turned away.

FARTHER WEST in Concord Shopping Center is West Dade's newest diversion — an indoor movie theater, complete with the latest in equipment and first-run features. In this day of multiple television channels and outdoor living, it takes courage to gamble hundreds of thousands of dollars on a creature such as an indoor theater. But these gamblers won't go broke.

TROPICAL PARK Estates Pool finally opened Saturday after a long struggle over water connections. That's Bobb Miller, supervisor of aquatics for Dade County, and Mrs. John Isenberg, a Dade life guard.

Day of Rest Continuing Law Fight

The Day of Rest Committee is continuing its fight to obtain a law for the closing of non-essential businesses on Sunday.

The State Legislature in the last session failed to pass the Sunday Closing law. This bill passed the Senate but failed to get out of committee in the House.

Harry Rich, Committee Chairman, said after a special strategy session:

"We will continue to actively work for a fair Sunday Closing Law because we know that most of the people in Dade County want such a law, so do most of the people in the state. We were nearly victorious in this last session of the legislature."

STYMIED IN HOUSE

The Senate passed the bill by a 70% majority. If it had been possible to force the bill out of the House Committee before the regular session ended, it would have passed the House by about the same margin.

"The tremendous support given to the Day of Rest Movement locally convinces our Committee that most people want it. We know that nearly all affected employees and employers want to stay closed Sundays."

"Only senseless competitive tactics are forcing more and more stores to remain open on Sundays."

"Unless we pursue the passage of a law, at local or state level, another 30,000 or 40,000 persons will be forced to work on Sundays, or lose their jobs. This is bound to have an adverse affect on the character and welfare of our community."

30,000 SIGNATURES

Rich pointed out that the Committee received nearly 500 resolutions from retail stores supporting the proposed law, and over 30,000 individual petitions were signed in favor of it.

The churches were very strong in their support, as were many civic clubs, chamber of commerce, and labor groups.

The Committee plans to pursue its campaign for a Sunday closing law for non-essential, non-recreational business at both the state and local levels. He said the timing of its forthcoming efforts will be announced as soon as present planning is completed.

Opinion on Charter Changes Mounts

Support and opposition to the Miami-Dade Chamber of Commerce's Proposed Metro Charter amendments mounted last week as the Metro Commission okayed the form of a petition and its backers went out to obtain signatures.

Both opposition and support split on the various proposals which were made by the Government Research Council of the Chamber.

Latest to back the proposal of countywide election of eight commissioners and a mayor was Fred Salisbury, president of the Southwest Miami Chamber, a branch of the Miami-Dade group.

Salisbury viewed the countywide vote proposal as the greatest thing that's happened to Dade County. In it he saw an opportunity for unity.

NO FORMAL ACTION
While the Coral Gables City

Commission has taken no formal action on the proposals, some members, and City Attorney Ted Semple have taken exception to some provisions.

Neither South Miami nor West Miami have taken a stand on the controversial amendments.

The City of Miami Commission is generally in favor of most of the provisions.

Here are the proposed amendments:

Create three additional districts for a total of eight.

Change the name of Dade County to Miami County.

Cut the number of commissioners to eight plus a mayor.

The commissioners must reside in the district from which they run and have resided in the district for at least six months and in the county for three years.

Terms will be for four years.

Any commissioner who ceases to be a qualified voters in the County, fails to attend meetings without good reason for six months or moves from his district shall forfeit his office. The mayor is excepted from the last provision.

MAJORITY VOTE

Any vacancy will be filled by a majority vote of the remaining members within 30 days or an election will be held within 45 days after the 30 days. The new member will serve out the unexpired term.

The mayor will serve as chairman of the board. A vice mayor will be selected by the board at their pleasure. The clerk of the Circuit Court will serve as clerk of the board. All meetings to be public and actions legal only by majority vote of a majority of commissioners then in office.

Elections to be held every four years beginning in 1968.

All elections for mayor and commissioners to be non-partisan.

Candidates shall qualify no

South Miami Police administered first aid to Jones and his passenger, Marion E. Davies, 13, 6387 SW 41st St.

Miss Davies was taken to South Miami Hospital where she was treated and released.

About $750 damage was done to Martin's and Jones' cars.

Others May Talk, South Miami Acts On Slum Clearance

SW 62 Ave. and 58 Ave. the heart of the South Miami slum district.

A survey from Feb. 1, 1962—June 14, 1963 reveals:

NEW 11 duplexes, 8 single family residents, 1 store
1 residence, office building, 1 42-unit apartment, 1 store building

HIGH RENTS—FOR SLUMS

What kind of rent do these poor tenants pay for the "privilege" of living in slums? Costs range from $8 a week for a 70-square-foot room to $14-15 weekly for squalid homes. Big rents, bad houses.

New CBS constructed duplexes—bright pink and blue are the favorite colors—rent for about $19 a week.

"Colored owners give us the greatest co-operation. They don't resent us," said Gammage. "They know they need help. Why, some walls are so bad, you can stick your fist through the rotten boards."

GENERAL CLEANING

Trees and long, overhanging awnings have been torn down near narrow alleys. Blind corners have been cleared for more visibility. Streets should be 50 feet wide, often they are 15.

Usually the small shacks are built very close together, violating zoning laws as well as the building code. At 6051 SW 63rd St. one new house was erected where three were formerly.

Still standing is an old building at 6636 SW 59th Pl. Twelve men and women share this building.

Even a rooster has one room.

A three-story apartment building will go in when this is demolished. These old shacks can't be razed by fire because of the danger from wires.

Contrasts of old and new homes, side by side, can be found at SW 67th St. and 58th Pl. Some places escape condemnation by making repairs such as 6400 SW 59th Ct.

STANDING EYESORE

A long-standing eyesore was the old South Miami Market on SW 59th Place. After this condemned building was removed, a clean, new market was built across the street at 6801 SW 59th Pl. Nearby an old home at 6636 SW 59th Pl. will be coming down soon.

Who owns this land? Approximately 40 per cent is in the hands of colored people. White owners often protest more than the colored landlords if repairs are needed.

On July 12 in a Circuit Court, two white land owners, Bernard Abbott and Mrs. Elizabeth Driest, will protest condemnation proceedings against their land.

Mrs. S. M. Greene owns most of the homes in colored town, South Miami. Harry Markowitz owns 16-18 houses on land no bigger than one-half a block.

In spite of many obstacles, old homes are still being condemned and razed and new homes and buildings are being erected. The colored people show pride in their new homes.

The property owners often build small, neat CBS homes for their families or they build duplexes and rent the other half. Lee Perry, a colored teacher owns a new pink home at 6157 SW 64th St.

The South Miami Council approves of all new buildings that meet the standards of the building code. A tight rein is kept on the future of the slum district, for the better of the occupants.

News 'N Views Out Our Way

By MARIAN WYNNE

Let's take a leisurely summer vacation with no worry or care in the world. After we've left this city — and perhaps the country — we'll merely dial a number and our grass will be watered regularly.

When we return to Miami, we'll make another call from the airport which will automatically turn on our air conditioner. How nice it will feel to return to a cool home!

And when we arrive, we'll read a list of the people who've called us during our absence. And then we'll tell the story of our lovely vacation by telephone to ten of our friends at one time.

FANTASTIC BUT REALISTIC

Sound fantastic? This will be a reality in the future

On the Go...

That new restaurant being readied for a July grand opening in Westchester Shopping Plaza is to be known as "WOOFIES." ... Gables' resident Joe Morrison will have the title role in "Lil Abner" when the musical comedy opens June 29th at Ruth Foreman's Studio M. TV's Bob Clayton plays "Marryin' Sam." ... Two more South West "coffee houses" have folded ... Possibility of a very BIG bowling alley being built near 87th and Coral Way in the near future ... Coral Gables Jaycees annual "visitation" excursion this year will be to Panama over the Labor Day Holiday weekend. Several new home developments expected to blossom forth in the South Miami-South West suburban areas within the coming months. It'll be the first big building surge in Dade in many, many months ... Builder Dick Maurer warns that each shot of scotch contains 115 calories. No wonder some of my friends are putting on weight! ... Coconut Grove Playhouse with a great lineup of big name stars expecting its biggest summer season ever. Walter Pidgeon in "Lord Pengo" opens on July 1st.

SHORTLY after Galloway House apartments are completed at 88th Place and Bird Road, Builder Eugene Fleischer starts to work on another big apartment building just a few blocks southeast of there ... Several of the legislators spent their first days back from Tallahassee explaining how they could possibly vote for the compromise tax bills. Several of the legislators took a tongue-lashing from local politicians ... State Sen. George Hollahan ducked into a hospital for a checkup on his return to Miami ... Have you noticed how a downtown paper uses the picture of a Gables City Commissioner's father instead of the Commissioner by mistake? ... RCA recording artist Sir Julian now booked into The Summit Restaurant-Lounge at Dadeland.

***
NOW they call them "cue clubs" instead of pool halls and they're better looking than ever. A new one — the Coral Cue Club — opens this week near 67th and Coral Way ... Loft On The Mile according to Southern Bell Telephone in a movie called "Century 21 Calling."

Mark Wilson, Coral Gables manager, showed this lively color film to members of the South Miami Chamber of Commerce, business and professional division, at a Tuesday morning breakfast at Park Lane Cafeteria.

Two communities in the United States are already experimenting with an expensive complicated electronic central switchboard which makes all of this — and more — possible.

KIWANIS CONVENTION

Two members of the South Miami Kiwanis Club are now in Atlantic City attending the national convention through tomorrow.

James E. Ferguson Jr., president, and Arthur Pendleton, secretary, brought their families along to join the fun. Ferguson's wife, Jackie, and children, Lynda, Jimmy and Gerg, will spend the week after the convention in New York City.

Then Daddy will fly home and the rest of the family will drive to Wisconsin by way of Niagara Falls, Canada, and Detroit, for a visit with Mrs. Lillian Overbaugh, Mrs. Ferguson's mother.

Pendleton and his wife, Bunny, and son Tod will visit relatives up north and plan a leisurely trip back home.

Here's a real dream vacation! Rita and Melvin Brown, 5040 SW 95th Ct., are celebrating their 10th wedding anniversary with a trip to Europe. Rita is now in New York with kiddies Andy, Melissa and Kerry.

Mel will fly to the Big City July 9th. The children will stay with relatives while the Browns fly to Paris. They'll rent a car and drive to Italy, Switzerland, Spain and back to Paris. This four-week trip marks the first time abroad for the Browns.

Delaware, New Jersey and Colorado are on the agenda for Rhona Guberman, 8230 SW 42nd St. This president of the local Lorber Chapter, Childrens Asthmatic Research Institute and Hospital, will attend the annual national CARIH convention in Denver soon.

She's also visiting relatives in Delaware and New Jersey. She and hubby Marvin have three daughters, Shelley, Tracy and Wendy.

BABY MAKES THREE

Alizah Beth, born June 14, is the new baby at the home of Golda and Bob Siegel, 9271 SW 59th St. Big brother and sister are Kenan, 2½ and Jilah, 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shaver, Kathryn and Debra, 5400 SW 110th Ct., are planning a July 4th outing with their relatives from out-of-town.

Guests are Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Thailing, Charleston, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs.

Richard Thailing, Omaha, Neb. The A. G. Thailings are Mrs. Shaver's parents and Richard is her brother. The male Thailings are quite prominent in business back home.

Leslie Silverman and her son Mark, of New York, 1½, are now visiting Leslie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Gelernter, 3406 Granada Blvd., Coral Gables. Leslie was a long-time resident here before her marriage to Fred, a hospital administrator in New York.

Uncle Sam Gives John L. Buckley Major Promotion

COL. OGLIVIE AND MAJ. BUCKLEY

Maj. John L. Buckley, Commanding Officer, U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station, Coral Gables, was promoted to that rank last week in ceremonies at the Main Station.

Major Buckley, who resides at 8881 SW 187th St., received his major's oak leaves from Col. J. M. Oglivie Jr., commanding officer, Third U.S. Army Recruiting District.

Mrs. Ernestine Buckley, his wife, was there for the ceremonies.

Buckley was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1943, after two and one half years as an enlisted man. He returned to civilian life after World War II, until he was recalled to active duty in 1951. He then served two years in Korea with the 2nd Infantry Division.

LONG COMMAND

The major was assigned to his current unit in March 1960, and assumed command on April 11 of that year. To this date, he has held this command longer than any man in the history of the Main Station.

It fell his lot to administer the largest group processing ever undertaken in peacetime, when he screened and accepted members of the "Bay of Pigs" brigade and other Cuban draft volunteers for special training with the U.S. Army as both officers and enlisted men.

During his tenure as commander, recruiters at the Main Station have never failed to produce at least their fair share of enlistments, and presently the RMS holds the all-time mark of 75 consecutive months without ever falling below their assigned quota.

Major Buckley has won the Bronze Star medal, Purple Heart medal, Distinguished Unit Citation and the Korean Presidential Unit Citation, as well as several service medals won in World War II and Korean War service.
